

sometimes be overlooked in the excitement of developing an innovative and technologically dynamic project. It is critical that this step be reviewed during every decision and every phase 77L'1o)86L0'8l1o)86L0C;0o65876880 projects to determine performance and costs.

The following questions will contribute to a justifiable budget that is realistic:

- Does the project fit with the budget and time frame?
- Who is needed on the production team? How much time will each team member spend on specific areas of the application?
-

[redacted] envisioned.

As the project develops, the faculty member or client's vision for the project often changes. Midway

21. Wisc-Online

<http://www.wisc-online.com/>